Kristus sa stal pre nás poslušný až na smrť, až na smrť na kríži. Preto ho Boh nad všetko povýšil a dal mu meno, ktoré je nad každé iné meno.

Christ became obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross. Because of this, God greatly exalted him and bestowed on him the name which is above every name.

Kvetná Nedele.

Passion Sunday.

Bože môj, Bože môj, prečo si ma opustil?

My God, my God, why have you abandoned me?

Pašie, ktoré opisujú umučenie Ježiša, Božieho Syna možno aj v nás vyvolajú pochybnosť: „Kde bol Boh Otec, o ktorého dobrote rozprával Ježiš krásne podobenstvá?“ Zamyslime sa, či dobre chápeme postavenie Boha Otca na Krízovej ceste. Aké miesto máme pripisať Bohu Otcovi?

Sv. Pavol v liste Rimanom hovorí, že: „Boh dokazuje svoju lásku k nám tým, že Kristus zomrel za nás, keď sme ešte boli hrievníci“ (Rim 5,8) A na inom mieste v tom istom liste hovorí: „Keď ani vlastného Syna neušetril, ale vydal ho za nás všetkých“ (Rim 8,32). Nám sa skôr zdá, že skutočnosť, že Ježiš musel zomrieť na Kríži, nedokazuje Otcovu lásku, ale naopak „jeho krutosť“, alebo aspoň „neúprosnú spravodlivosť“. Poznanie Boha Otcu je u mnohých kresťanov zanesené týmito falosoými predstavami. Pán Ježiš by aj pred nami znova mohol zopakovať: „Spravodlivý Otče, svet ťa nepoznal!“ (Jn 17,25)

Zabúdame na to, že Boží Syn je Otcovou Láskou i Blaženosťou. A práve tohto Syna dal za nás hrievníkov a svoju nesmiernu blaženosť zamenil za bolest ľudského údela. Tertulián píše: „Ak Syn trpel, trpel Otec s ním. Akoby mohol Syn trpieť, bez toho aby Otec trpel spolu s ním?“ Podobne uvažuje Origenes: „Ci Otec, Boh celého tvorstva, ktorý je plný zhovievosti, milosrdenstva a dobroty, nejakým spôsobom netrpí? Či nevieš, že keď sa zaoberá ľudskými vecami, trpí ľudským spôsobom? Trpí muky lásky.“ Kristovo utrpenie je len zjavením a dejinným prejavom toho, čo sa deje v samotnom Bohu, v samotnom Božom srdci. Božie utrpenie je však kvalitatívne iné ako naše, pretože my trpíme, lebo musíme, zatiaľ čo Boh trpí zvrchované slobodne a jeho utrpenie nič neuberá na Božej neporušiteľnosti a nemennosti. Sv. Gregor Divotvorca hovorí: „Je to utrpenie toho, ktorý nie je schopný utrpenia“ Boh trpí, pretože miluje. „Spravodlivý Otče, svet ťa nepoznal!“ (Jn 17,25) Bolest nášho sveta je v tom, že nepozná Otca. Keď človek opustil Boha Otca, opustili synovia svojich otcov. A každý pozemský otec si prežije nejakým spôsobom túto bolest, aby aspon trochu prenikol do bolesti Boha Otca.

Dnes rozjímame nad príbehom božskej lásky jedného Otca k Synovi a jedného Syna k Otcovi. Nech vyrastre z tohto tajomstva pre cirkev i pre svet uzdravujúca milosť, ktorá znova obráti srdcia otcov k synom a srdcia synov k otcom. Nech obmäckí naše skamenené srdcia i, vo vzťahu k Bohu Otcovi. Človek musí znova uveriť v lásku Boha Otca, aby pochopil svoju vlastnú cenu, aby znova našiel radosť z toho, že je mužom, že je ženou, že je otcom alebo matkou, synom alebo dcérou. Radosť z toho, že je na svete, že existuje a je milovaný Bohom.

It was widely held among the Jewish people, that the destiny awaiting a prophet is incomprehension, rejection and often death. Jesus probably counted on the possibility of a violent end.

But Our Lord wasn't suicidal, nor was he seeking martyrdom. He never wanted or promoted suffering – either for himself or for anyone else. Rather, he dedicated his life to fight suffering whether caused by sickness, injustice, exclusion or hopelessness. He was totally given to seeking God's Reign and God's justice; to promoting the more dignified and happier world that his Father wants for us all.

If Jesus accepts persecution and martyrdom, it's because of his faithfulness to the project of a God who doesn't want to see human beings suffer. That's why Jesus doesn't run toward death, but he also doesn't hold back when it is threatened. He doesn't flee in the face of threats, nor does he change or water-down his affirmations in defense of the least.

It would have been easy for our Blessed Lord to avoid the danger of execution. He could have done so by keeping quiet and not insisting on things that could upset people in power, whether in the temple or in the palace of the Roman prefect. But no.. Jesus holds firmly to his path as a speaker of truth. He prefers to be put to death rather than betray his conscience or be unfaithful to the God's plan.

And so he died faithful to the God in whom he had always trusted. He kept welcoming everyone, even sinners and the unwanted. If people ended up rejecting him, he would die as an «excluded», but with his death he would confirm what his whole life has been about: complete confidence in a God who doesn't reject or exclude anyone from forgiveness.

He will keep promoting God's Reign and God's justice, even at the risk of receiving the death penalty of the cross, a fate reserved for slaves. So be it, he would die like those who are poorest and most scorned, but his death will seal forever his total trust in a God who wants to save human beings from all that enslaves us.

Jesus' followers discover the final Mystery of reality, incarnated in his love and extreme self-giving for humanity. In the love of this crucified man God identifies Self with all those who suffer, God cries out against all injustice and forgives executioners of every time. Nothing will stop God in the effort to save His children.
